congress that the Senate amendments to the House amendment be considered as read and printed in the Record.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

Mr. LAGOMARSINO. Mr. Speaker, I rise to the right to object, and I do so only to ask the gentleman from California (Mr. PHILLIP BURTON) if he would briefly explain the changes that have been made in the bill.

Mr. PHILLIP BURTON. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. LAGOMARSINO. I yield to the gentleman from California.

Mr. PHILLIP BURTON. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman will yield, as the gentleman from California knows, this bill is virtually identical to the House-passed version a few days ago. The House position is virtually in all respects protected. This is approved by the executive department, and I am quite pleased with the result.

Mr. Speaker, any list of participants who deserve particular credit for enactment of this legislation must include MATT McCuGH and JOE McCaDDA, our colleagues from the Appropriations Committee, as well as their capable and effective staff members, who labored mightily to produce this result. JIM ABouRENAH and CURRi HANSEN are closing their careers in the U.S. Senate and this legislation is but one further testament to their dedicated and effective leadership in preserving our country's natural heritage.

Chairman HENRY M. JACKSON of the Senate Committee again demonstrated his long-standing interest in these issues and his work in shepherding the measure through its final stages was superb.

Senator ALAN CRANSTON played the key role in pressing forward to include the bill on the priority list for Senate passage, and was instrumental in securing the debate time necessary to pass this measure.

A Joint Senate and House effort led to the inclusion of the magnificent New River Gorge in this measure. Senators ROBERT BYRD and JENNINGS RANDOLPH worked in close cooperation with Representative NICK JOE RAHALL to develop the consensus that has made this project a reality.

In delivering a long and complex measure such as S. 791, the continued interest and support of many committee members is vital. Representatives LAMAR GUGGER and PAUL TSONGAS lent their efforts in the formative stages of this legislation and worked selflessly to insure that the committee reported a well-constructed measure. Their continuing assistance has been crucial to the success of this matter.

Representative BRUCE VENTO also contributed mightily to the effort and deserves our thanks for his time and effectiveness.

I believe it is fair to say that one of the strengths of S. 791 is the bipartisan effort which led to its enactment. Our ranking minority member on the subcommittee, Representative KEITH SEBELIUS, has been a most constructive force in guiding the substance and progress of this effort.

Representative JOE SKURITZ, who is closing his career as ranking minority member of the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, can look back with pride at this capstone to his long efforts to protect and preserve these important areas.

Many Members have assisted the committee by bringing to our attention meritorious projects which could be considered in this omnibus measure. Representative JAMES BROYHILL joined by Representative LAMAR GUGGER championed a study of the Blue Ridge Parkway in Virginia. Representativeonds have worked for and succeeded in increasing the development authorization for the Rio Grande Gorge, Kaloko-Honokohau National Historical Site, Representative NORMAN DICKS and STAND M. MILLER'S continuing efforts for protection to its important values.

The measure reflects Representative GEORGE MILLER'S continuing efforts for the inclusion of the Magnificent Red River Gorge in the bill. Representatives JAMES FLORIO worked in close cooperation with Representative JOE SKURITZ, who is closing his career as ranking minority member on the subcommittee, Representative KEITH SEBELIUS, has been a most constructive force in guiding the substance and progress of this effort.

As a footnote to the list of wild and scenic river designations is that of the American River in northern California, thanks to the personal interest and continued work of Representative NAROL (Bizu) JOHNSON. And a special bow should go to Representative BILL GRADISON whose long standing interest in the preservation of the superfatate Red River Gorge in Kentucky led to its inclusion for study as a potential wild and scenic river.

HAWAI'I'S TWO HOUSE MEMBERS, DANIEL AKAKA AND CECIL HEFTL, both freshmen, successfully pressed their case that Kaloko-Honokohau National Historical Park be established in order to preserve from extinction certain historical and cultural areas and traditions of ancient Hawaiians. Thanks to these two Members' efforts, Native Hawaiians and all their descendants will have continuing access to their "roots."
stituent should look forward to two very effective and dynamic Congressmen.

St. Paul's Church, Eastchester, in Mount Vernon, N.Y., will be preserved and protected for present and future generations thanks to Dick Ottinger's untiring efforts to include this in the omnibus parks bill.

Without Joshua Elbarg's dedication to bringing this about, the bill as sent to the White House might not have contained the section authorizing the establishment of the Edgar Allen Poe National Historic Site.

Additional land has been added to the Oregon Caves National Monument in Oregon, due to the efforts of our colleague from that State. As a member of the House Interior Committee, Jim's contributions to the cause of conservation are continuous and substantive.

In particular I want to single out for my heartfelt thanks and unstinting praise the hard working members of our subcommittee. All of them, Democrats and Republicans, have important and respective contributions to the omnibus parks bill. They are: Bob Kastenmeier, Tony Won Pat, Ron de Lugo, Jim Florio, Dawson Mathis, John Kresk, Peter Kostmayer, August Garza, Lamar Gudger, Balsadar Corrada, Jonathan Bingham, Bob Eckhardt, Paul Tsongas, Mo Udall, Keith Sebelius, Joe Skubitz, Don Clausen, Phil Ruppe, Bob Bauman, and Bob Momberger. Our late beloved colleague, Goodloe Byron, should also be cited here for his numerous contributions right up to his untimely death this week. I am convinced that no other subcommittee chairman has such a fine group of intelligent, energetic, creative and committed members as I can boast of and I am most appreciative of their hard work, devotion and dedicated services. I want to express my heartfelt thanks and unstinting appreciation and admiration to my friend and colleague, the gentleman from California, John Kresk, who was the successful author of the Mineral King component of this legislation. His leadership will make it possible for countless Americans to enjoy the unique beauty of this scenic alpine valley, yet provide appropriate protection from the threat of commercialization.

Georgians can thank Bob Glenn and Dawson Mathis, their two able House Members, for the increase in the authorized authorization for Andersonville National Historic Site. With this increased authorization, the construction of an information center, roads and parking, reconstruction of part of the prison stockade and other parts of the park can now be funded.

Lindy Boggs, our colleague from Louisiana, and our friend, Bennett Johnston, the Senator from the same State, and Charlie Vernon, N.Y., will be preserved and protected for present and future generations thanks to Dick Ottinger's untiring efforts to include this in the omnibus parks bill of Jean Lafitte National Historical Park. They were assisted in their efforts by Jerry Huckaby. This park, long sought after by the people of Louisiana, will now become a reality thanks to these three fine Members of Congress.

With the final approval of S. 791, the beauty and recreational benefits of the Santa Monica Mountains area will be preserved forever for people not only from the State of California, but from everywhere in this great country. And all those people who take advantage of these benefits in future can thank in particular three House Members and one Senator who relentlessly worked to bring this recreation area into being. Tony Beilenson, Barry Goldwater, Jr., Bob Lomagomarsi, and Senator Alan Cranston are to be applauded for their outstanding efforts. Generation to come will benefit from their refusal to give up their willingness to negotiate, their ability to put partisan feelings aside for the betterment of their constituents.

Mr. Speaker, I want to clarify that the Melcher amendment in the Senate committee amendment to the omnibus bill was accepted by the House with the clear and unambiguous understanding that it was applied exclusively to the exchange of lands owned by the Burlington Northern Railroad on either the Beaver Head or the Gallatin National Forest in the State of Montana.

This understanding on behalf of the House is based on the expressed assurance by the distinguished senior Senator from the State of Montana, Mr. Melcher, to this Member.

Devotees of Carl Sandburg owe Lamar Gudger a debt of thanks for his successful efforts to increase the authorized development limitation at Carl Sandburg National Historic Site in order to permit construction of a visitor orientation facility and various other improvements needed on the property.

The Boston National Historical Park will be enriched by the addition of Dorchester Heights. The Member who played the vital role in securing this extra land for the park was our colleague from Boston, Joe Ljoed. Additionally, it was Joe who led the effort in the Rules Committee to secure a favorable rule for the bill.

The Palo Alto Battlefield in Texas has been designated a national historic site because of Kiko de la Garza's efforts.

The compelling leadership of Peter Kostmayer, from Pennsylvania, was displayed when he was joined by his colleagues, Andy Maguire, Helen Meyner, and Millicent Fenwick (three Members from New Jersey), to bring about a favorable disposition of the Tocks Island controversy. He is responsible for the middle segment of the Delaware River being designated as a wild and scenic river and protected from the building of the controversial dam on the Tocks Island site heretofore selected for this dubious distinction. People from the surrounding areas with frequent access to the Delaware Gap National Recreation Area can thank those four Members for saving this beautiful area with all of its wildlife, recreational facilities, archeological treasures, and other assets from the devastation of flooding.

Credit for bringing about the inclusion of Friendship Hill as a national historical site in Pennsylvania goes to Austin Murphy, the dedicated first-term Member from the 22d District.

There are innumerable people, both in Washington, D.C. and around this country who have given of their time and energies to contribute to the success of this effort. No list of them could be complete. But here is a small sample of thanks to those many others who can measure, in terms of their own satisfaction, their personal contributions that made enactment of the National Parks and Recreation Act of 1978 possible:

Mr. Lomagomarsi, Mr. Speaker, further reserving the right to object, I want to compliment the gentleman from California, Mr. Philip Burton, for steering this bill through a very intricate legislative maze. I think he has done a real service to this House on this legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER: Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California for the Senate amendments to the House amendment be considered as read and printed in the RECORD?

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER: Is there objection to the first request of the gentleman from California?
